

FREE Safe Driving Presentation

The aims and objectives of the Driving Standard Agency's 'Arrive Alive' Road Safety Programme are to prevent our young people becoming involved in road traffic crashes that all too often result in serious injury or even death.

Of those new young drivers between the ages of 16-19 one in three will be involved in a road traffic incident.

The Agency is dedicated to influencing young peoples' approach towards learning to drive safely and passing the test. 'Arrive Alive' messages include the correct attitude towards the responsibility of becoming a driver both while learning to drive and even more so after passing the test. Passing the test is just the beginning, not the end of the learning process.

The programme involves local Driving Examiners giving a 50 minute totally FREE presentation to this vulnerable age group in Schools, Colleges, the Armed Forces, Agricultural Colleges, Youth Football Teams, the Probation Service and Young Offenders Institutions.

There are five different modules of the presentation that can be adjusted to suit your needs:
